Economic Development Funds Assure Port & Harbor Growth

Port Director

Gives EDA Funding Details

Port Director Hill, Hancock County Port and Harbor Director, on Tuesday gave details of a $2,779,200 grant from the Economic Development Administration to his commission.

This money is needed to complete the shallow water section of the West Hancock County Harbor and Industrial Area," Hill said.

Total funds involved in the federal public works project, the first of its type in Hancock County, amount to $4,632,000.

Of this sum, the port commission put up $463,200 in matching funds, from monies held over from the last bond issue, and the Governor's Emergency Fund. The Southern Mississippi Economic Development Authority, of which the county is a member, has loaned $463,200 to the port commission, to be repaid from port revenues, and gave a direct grant of $2,316,000.

The $2,316,000 total contained in the EDA grant represents a portion of the EDA grant to the county and the SMEDD.

A special account has been established in the Hancock County Bank to receive the various project deposits and disbursements will be made only with EDA sanction.

Hill allowed that from here, engineering, construction, and maintenance of the harbor, and the provision plans, specifications, and estimates, have been given the green light and are now putting their feet on the gas.

Final speed of project one should be ready for presentation to the port commission on September 15, and advertising for bids should be completed thereafter.

The port director said a complete estimated cost breakdown for the work is, including a sub-billing, $2,779,200. This includes: $2,779,200 for the harbor, $2,779,200 for the industrial area, $2,779,200 for the harbor, $2,779,200 for the industrial area.

rection, $30,000; testing laboratory fees, $15,000; topographical survey, $30,000; legal and administrative, $80,000; interest during construction, $148,000; project contingencies, $421,100.

Director Hill said the final selection of items and projects for inclusion has been spelled out by the EDA engineers in conferences with his staff prior to actual application being made.

On a rough breakdown, by item, existing and proposed facilities, Hill gave the following tally:

Clearing and grubbing, presently about 370 have been prepared in this manner for industry, leaving about 890 still to be cleared and grubbed.

Grading and Drainage, the site is presently being drained by the natural fall of the land. Work here will involve installation of culverts, excavation of ditches, grading of spoil areas and restoration of natural drainage where already completed projects pose blockage.

Dredging, necessary to complete water access to main industrial areas now served by road and rail. Roadwork, this consists of overlaying existing road and extending it an additional quarter plus mile.

Too, additional lateral or site access roads will be constructed.

Railroad spur embankment extension is for lateral access to industrial sites. Water system, present installation includes a 2,000 foot deep eight inch artesian well with head pressure of 38 psi with flow rate of 1772 gallons per minute.

A partial water distribution system is complete. New work includes a looping of the present system, to provide fire protection, installation of well head booster pumps and construction of a 300,000 gallon elevated water storage tank.

Sewerage System, this section will require complete installation complete with treatment plant as no such facility is in existence at present.

Public Wharf and Warehouse, a must item for those "off-water" industries, and others requiring off-loading, import and export capability. Dock is to house rolling crane and will result in port becoming reality.

Approximately 4,000 voter identification cards for Hancock County have been issued from the office of Lamar Otis, Circuit Clerk, as of Monday, August 31. "These cards will be given to the re-registered voters in all 21 precincts of the county," according to Deputy Circuit Clerk, Henry Otis, who explained that a new system will be put into effect to identify qualified voters during the August, 1971 election.

Otis said the new system will be both accurate and efficient and he believes about half of the qualified voters have been registered. Otis said in 1969 there were over 10,000 qualified voters in Hancock County, however, he believes the voters now residing in the county will not be over 8,000 this year. Otis said many voters who were connected with the NASA installation have been transferred, and some people have not returned to the area following Hurricane Camille.

Voters should re-register by or before the first of April in order to vote in the 1971 August election. "In other words voters are required to register four months in advance."

Authorize Channel
For Bayou Caddy

Colonel Harry A. Griffith, U.S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, has called for bids for dredging a new small-craft channel and two turning basins in Bayou Caddy in Hancock County, Mississippi, for use by commercial fishing and recreational boating interests. Cadet Bayou in Hancock County, Mississippi, for use by commercial fishing and recreational boating interests. Cadet Bayou, also known as Bayou Caddy, is about 10 miles southwest of Bay St. Louis. Bids will be received at Mobile on September 3.

Construction of the channel was authorized by the Chief of Engineers in 1969 under authority of Section 107 of the River and Harbor Act of 1960, which permits the Corps of Engineers to adopt certain small, economically justified navigation projects without specific Congressional approval. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, local sponsor for the project, is required to furnish suitable spoil disposal areas, adequate terminal facilities, and a cash contribution toward the first cost of construction.

Funds for the Federal share of the dredging costs are contained in the public works appropriation bill currently before Congress. In order to obtain the benefits from the improvement as soon as possible, the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has advanced funds to cover the Government share of the cost; these funds will be reimbursed when money for the project is appropriated.

lease made last Monday by the port commission giving details of a $2 million fish production and processing complex with initial construction already underway.

C. H. Hill, port director, on hearing of the public works grant, said, "This office and commission has taken considerable criticism over the last year for apparent inactivity. Now, at last, we can begin to see and tell of the results of our labors."

Hinting at even more surprises ahead, Hill said, "We have announced over six and a half million dollars worth of 'new projects' in the last two weeks and this is just a beginning."

"We need this public works program to convince industry of our firm intent to finish the shallow water section of the West Hancock County Harbor and Industrial Area."

"Promises are no good to an industrial executive charged with making a decision involving thousands and even millions of dollars worth of his stockholders' money."

Hill lauded the efforts of Russell Elliott, president, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, who did battle in Washington on behalf of the port grant, Senators Eastland and Stennis and Congressman Colmer; Fred LaRue, special administrative assistant to President Nixon; Trent Lott and Billy Simpson, senatorial aides in Washington.

Also coming in for high praise were Leslie Newcomb and Pettis Walley, executive director and resource director respectively of the Southern Mississippi Economic Development District, and Chris Brady, former field representative for EDA and now president of Chris Brady and Associates of Jackson, a private consulting firm on government financing and methods.

EDA funds are made available by the federal government to qualifying political subdivisions for the purpose of increasing an area's overall economy through the media of job producing projects.

Prior to Hurricane Camille the county was unable to qualify due to a much contested government decision on average county income levels. The hurricane put the county into the disaster aid eligibility category and opened the door to economic recovery assistance application and consideration.

The presently owned tractor with a bushing attachment is now twelve years old," explained Mayor Carver and he said this equipment cannot be used without extensive and costly repairs.

Reportedly some local citizens have kept a chart of rainfall and in the Bay St. Louis area approximately six inches of rain was recorded during the first few days of last week, while a seven inch rainfall was charted during the same period on rain gauges in the Pearling Bay vicinity. A weather report indicated that rainfall during August on the Mississippi Gulf Coast was 50% higher than the previous year.

'Round the Kiln

By Claire Mitchell

"It seems that Beat #4 is being plagued with some person or persons that like to take things that don't belong to them. I hope that they are having fun. I hope they will probably laugh at this letter, but I promise if they are ever caught, or if anyone is caught stealing or breaking into any place in Beat #4, and if it can be proven, they will be punished to the full extent of the law."

Respectfully yours,

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

FORESTRY COST SHARING
Federal cost sharing is available through the ASCS for major forestry practices. These are: constructing fire breaks, tree planting and timber stand improvement.

For building fire breaks the ASCS will pay around 50 percent of the cost, not to exceed $50 a mile, or 50 cents a linear foot.

For tree planting the payment ranges from $5.80 per thousand to $15, depending upon whether you bought the seedlings or received free seedlings and whether they are hand or machine planted.

For timber stand improvement or removal of cull trees, the payment is approximately 65 percent of the cost of the practice or $10 per acre, whichever is the least.

Any practice must be approved by the local ASCS office before you do it. And if you plan to plant trees, now is the time to order them.

BIGGET CORN

You can safely make silage from blight damaged corn. If severely diseased corn has already made an ear, it is usually best to wait until the grains reach the dent stage before cutting for silage. But in any case, the corn should be cut while at least 25 percent of the foliage is still green.

If the corn was severely damaged before it made an ear, then cut the silage when at least 50 percent of the foliage is still green.

If you do not have silage equipment, you might try cutting and baling the corn, or just turning the rows in to graze. If you do this, be sure to only allow the cows two or three hours grazing a day until they become adjusted to the change in feed.

FALL ARMYWORM

Keep a close watch for fall armyworms on fall sorghum. They have been reported as damaging grain sorghum and temporary grazing crops.

Most complaints have been on fall armyworms damaging the bud or whorl of milo. If the damage is extensive, spraying will likely be necessary. If so, use 8 to 10 gallons of total spray per acre with one nozzle positioned directly over bud. For aerial application, use three to five gallons of total mix per acre.

If the milo is to be used for silage or grazing, use seven to eight gallons of total mix per acre. If it is to be cut for grain, you may use seven, toxaphene, or endrin. Be sure to observe recommended waiting periods after using these materials.

DRYING GRAIN SORGHUM

Agricultural engineers tell us that grain sorghum, like wheat, is hard to dry. It is harder to force air through grain sorghum than through corn, may not be satisfactory for grain sorghum.

Here are some suggestions. Select your drying system to keep up with the harvest schedule.

Dry in shallow batches, in most cases not more than three feet deep, or use continuous flow drier if your volume justifies the investment. Use heated air as insurance against bad weather or a bottleneck in harvest.

Engineer your drying system for the high resistance to air flow of grain sorghum. Dry grain sorghum to 12 percent moisture for safe long-term storage. Provide a means for blowing air through the stored grain at regular intervals.

As a resident of Bay St. Louis for 47 years, I believe I am within my rights to ask for an investigation by the drainage engineers as to the conditions on Booker and St. Francis Streets.

My wife's entire garden consisting of squash, beans, cantaloupe and okra was flooded and spoiled due to lack of necessary drainage to this area. I would be glad to meet and speak with someone in authority about this matter at the earliest possible time.

Sincerely Yours,

HENRY R. CARVER

Pam Tour

On Thursday, September 10, an automobile caravan sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and starting at the Chamber office on Highway 90 at 9 a.m. will tour the scenic highways in this county. The group will be joined by leading businessmen, members of the Board of Supervisors and interested citizens who will tour Hancock County Soy Bean Farms, Beef and Dairy Cattle Farms, and Swine Farms. A specialist from the Mississippi State University is scheduled to accompany the tour and to explain the economic value of these enterprises to the County as a whole. It has been estimated that agriculture is the third most important business in Hancock County, and that the success of the county depends upon the success of its agriculture.

"Everybody is invited to come along," said Rayborn, and this is the first of a series of planned excursions that we may know our community better. Bring our community members closer together and help each other in mutual assistance in each other."

The tour plans six stops including the Soy Bean Farm of Omar Heas, Swine and Dairy

WINTER GRAZING

Usually a combination of ryegrass gives better winter grazing than other planted alone.

Ryegrass, if seeded alone, will usually not give the needed grazing in November and December. Small grains planted with ryegrass will give more fall grazing, and will make for a more uniform grazing period.

Recommended seeding rates for the ryegrass-small grain mixture are 100 pounds of small grain seed and 25 pounds of ryegrass per acre. Fertilizer rates are: for low production use 60 pounds per acre each of nitrogen, phosphate and potash per acre at planting time and 60 more pounds of nitrogen in the spring. For high production use 60-60-60 at planting time plus one pound of nitrogen per day of grazing applied when the area is grazed down. This often ranges from 180 to 240 pounds of nitrogen during the season.

WINTER GRAZING LIGHT CALVES

Got late calves that just are not big enough to sell profitably this fall? If so, you might consider planting winter grazing for the calves.

Research has shown that you can expect to clear around $50 or more per acre by grazing light calves through the winter.

If you are going to try this, now is the time to get busy. Select the land and start following it. Then plant around September 1st. Be sure to use plenty of fertilizer and make certain that the pH of your soil is favorable.

Ryegrass or combinations of ryegrass and wheat have worked well. Gulf or Magnolia ryegrass are highly recommended varieties.

You have good crop prospects now. But don't count your money yet. You can't spend the money until the crop is harvested and sold. There is plenty to do before that time!

Here are some real important jobs that must be done. Keep a close watch for insects and keep them under control. Keep fields free from weeds from now until harvest. This will improve quality and amount of yield. Cotton farmers should plan to do everything possible to hold down boll rot, including timely defoliation.

Make harvest preparations by getting all equipment in first class working condition.

GRAIN ECONOMIST AND STORAGE

You can reduce field losses and grain damage by weather and insects if you can harvest your corn or grain sorghum at 20 to 25 percent moisture content. But this is only feasible when you have access to drying facilities. Grain cannot be safely stored at moisture content in excess of 15 percent.

Storage areas should be thoroughly cleaned before grain harvest starts. After cleaning walls, floors and ceilings of storage areas should be sprayed with a residual insecticide.

One recommended material to use is methoxychlor. Make your spray by mixing one pound of 70 percent wettable powder or one quart of 25 percent emulsifiable concentrate with two and a half gallons of water. Spray at the rate of two gallons per 1,000 square feet.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Planning for retirement should not be a hit or miss type proposition. The Social Security Administration advises that you should contact a Social Security office a few years before you plan to retire to find out just what papers you will need to file a claim and to get an estimate on the amount of check you will receive.

Three months before you expect to retire, notify the Social Security Office. By applying three months early, the first check should be received on time.

Fuel Samples Are Analyzed

Approximately 1,000 samples of gasoline and other petroleum products were analyzed during the past fiscal year by the Petroleum Products Laboratory at Mississippi State University, according to Joe Sharp, state motor vehicle controller.

The most prevalent octane ratings determined by the laboratory tests were 94 for regular grades gasoline and 100 for premium grades. Only 3.5 percent of the regular grade samples fell below a rating of 92 octane, while 2.6 percent went below 90 octane.

"Gasoline and other petroleum products sold in Mississippi have evened out at a high quality level following a steady improvement over the past several years," Sharp said.

Officials reported that the most common fuel fault was a low flash point in some diesel fuels. The flash point is the temperature at which heat can cause a fire flash in a fuel.

"The tests our people conduct are very exacting," said Sharp, "and benefit the consumer of petroleum products both from a safety standpoint and by guarding his equipment from the damages that could result from using low-grade or substandard fuels."

Forestry Report

Private landowners have an opportunity to take advantage of the tremendous expansion of wood and wood related industries now taking place in the state by accelerating their timber growing efforts.

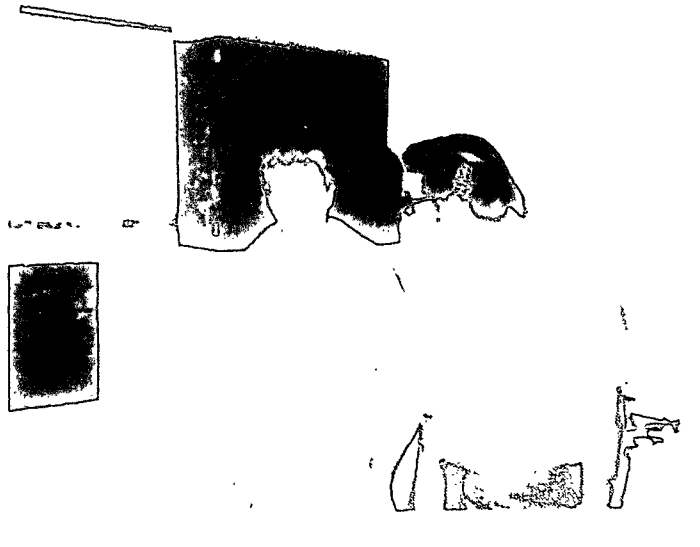

The above statement is verified by the fact that many newly established industries and announced plants are in full production they will be using double the amount of raw forest products that are currently produced from the state's 17 million acres of forest land.

Also, it may be pointed out that additional wood-based industries are developing in Mississippi, and that the present and future supply of available raw wood is a chief consideration of these industrial site selectors in choosing whether or not to locate here.

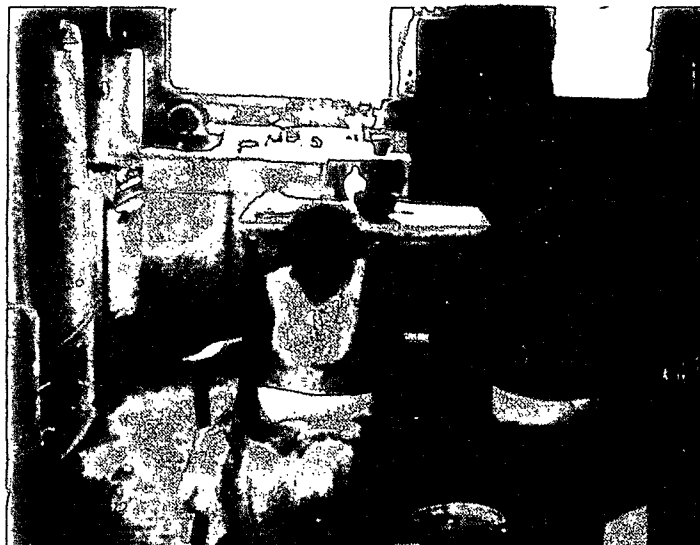

We are urging landowners to begin now, or continue a program of reforestation on all of the estimated 3.5 million

August 17-20th were the dates for the Annual 4-H State Convention held in Jackson, Mississippi, representing Hancock County as Leadership Delegates were Leanna Sams, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Sams and James Rester, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rester, Sr. The responsibility of these two delegates was to participate in the election of State 4-H Club Officers and District 4-H Club Vice-President.

The week was not completely taken over by politics and elections though - Monday night all Leadership delegates were honored at a banquet sponsored by Hennis United. At this time each was awarded a 4-H Leadership Certificate. These 4-Hers also enjoyed many interesting speakers during the week. Of course, no week would be complete without entertainment which included Miss Vonda Kaye Van Dyke, Miss America 1965 and Miss Christine McClamrock, the new Miss Mississippi.

Both delegates had a very busy week but felt it was a very successful one.

Awards Banquet Held

The Recreation Program, sponsored by Operation Upturn in Waveland, ended recently with an awards program and banquet held at the Waveland Town School.

The awards were given for outstanding performances in the Junior Olympics.

Guests of honor at the program were Mayor Garfield Linder and J. D. McCullough, superintendent of the Municipal Sprinkler School District. Mayor Linder addressed the group and stated that he was proud to speak before such a fine group of individuals. In his speech, McCullough praised the Recreation Program and the wonderful work that had been done this summer. He also stressed the importance of recreation for all young people.

HISTORICAL FICTION

The power of narrative history, legend, feeling and fantasy often warms the heart.

THE CARDINAL AND THE QUEEN by Evelyn Waugh

Anne of Austria, married in her teens to Louis, was not only at the mercy of his caprice or his dominating mother-in-law, Richelieu. The fascinating Richelieu, political priest, fell hopelessly in love with the queen's determination to resist him led her into a hornet's nest that was Louis' court. Queen Anne in terrible jeopardy, each escape narrowly by her vengeful husband and ultimate triumph. Throughout this novel of unparelled intrigue, broods the malevolent shadow of the less determination of the great Cardinal to win the cost.

RABBLE IN ARMS by Kenneth Roberts

Kenneth Roberts wrote to his publisher from Italy, outlining the book on which he was working. I hope to make RABBLE IN ARMS a complete picture of conditions in New England in 1770, of the Army in 1776-7, from its lowest point at Saratoga to Saratoga. Kenneth Roberts saw his wish fulfilled. RABBLE IN ARMS is the leading reviewer has called RABBLE IN ARMS "epic in scope, epic in grandeur, epic in achievement" "the best novel of American history... I have ever gloriously performed."

NORTHWEST PASSAGE also by Kenneth Roberts

This historical novel tells the story of his hero, Robert Rogers and his Rangers, the most famous Indian fighters, whose exploits during the French and Indian Wars are famous. At the Battle of Crown Point, Rogers by Longwood Towne, a Harvard-educated artist, bosom friends. As disaster follows disaster from the young Towne, he rises above adversity with nobility and tenacity throughout the historigation of his hero who after all his martial glory, ends in Fleet Street man.

JUBILEE TRAIL by Owen Bristow

Garnet Cameron, full of life and yearning, was appalled by the prospect of marrying one of the young men attending the party given by her mother. Then she met Oliver, a tall, thin, sandy-haired, who seemed to be her mother's shadow. He stirred her imagination and her heart.

Oliver was a trader. Every year he made his way to the Jubilee Trail from California to Santa Fe, through the mountains and deserts by trail train. This year he came to New York to buy goods, and next year he went to take the trail back to California. Here was the adventure Garnet could wait.

JUBILEE TRAIL is a story of vivid people and times. Owen Bristow has written the history of the trail as vividly as if it were happening today. Her story takes the era of the great ranches, and the little town of the days when it was just a jumble of adobe houses on a muddy creek. Against the brilliant panorama of the most exciting periods of American history, Garnet's comedy, and treachery and despair. She learned to love without compromise, and at last she learned to love love.

YOUNG AMES by Walter L. Edmonds (editor)

DRUMS ALONG THE MOHAWK

This is an exciting, romantic and rollicking adventures of a brash young man who went down in the early 1830's to find his fortune.

Young Ames had native wit, courage and effrontery. Without them he never would have made it in those days when market gambling was done in shiploads of merchandise, not pieces of paper. His tips came from the waterfront, not the curb. When of effrontery he certainly would never have made it.

Year's party of the senior partner of Chavallier & Post wearing the senior partner's new coat of arms have dared fall in love with the senior partner's daughter. Young Ames's courtship keeps pace with his rise. A race against time from New York to New Orleans, riots, wild nights with the volunteer fire department, and of an Irish immigrant girl - such are a few of the things YOUNG AMES.

CONSTANTINE The Miracle of the Flaming Cross by G. Slaughter

Constantine the Great was a leader and a visionary. He was a man of his time, but one battle stood above all others against Maxentius, when Constantine saw a flaming cross in the sky, and thenceforth took as his motto: "In this sign we conquer." This mystic revelation, as revealed by Eusebius, the contemporaries, lead to Constantine's acceptance of Christianity. Frank G. Slaughter has re-created in this book the life and colorful events of Constantine's life, in the world of the 3rd and 4th centuries. "At this time in the history of Christianity, a Roman emperor in paganism its death blow, he was Constantine the Great."

A NIGHT OF WATCHING by Elliott Arnold

This novel tells the story of a magnificent escape of the Danish underground in 1943 when, in a few weeks, virtually all the eight thousand Danish Jews fled to Sweden.

For three and a half years the Germans had rather peaceful occupation of Denmark, with the Jewish community. Hitler decided suddenly to deport Jews, for eventual extermination. The Gestapo called Holy Days as a practicable moment and everything was arranged. But it did not work. It did not work. Some of the Germans had become corrupted by the success of the conquered people; and because the underground risked everything (and did it brilliantly) for their fellow Jews.

That actuality provides the substance of this novel. With all its hard impact - its cruellest betrayals - the story Elliott Arnold tells is an enthralling, gripping one. And it suggests a hope: that the evil can lessen when he is confronted by resolute humanity.

The Junior Olympics

The Junior Olympics consisted of track races, softball, hurdles, broad jump, the quick walk, football throw and the 50 yard dash. Besides the individual winners in each competition, an award was given for the boy or girl who accepted the most awards in his or her age group. The winners were: Youngest Group - Jennifer Thigelt and

Stephen Trelles

Dede Hargett and Terry. Other winners were Lynn and Willie Hall.

Counselors for the program were students in the program at USC. Counselors were: Neighbourhood Youth Center. In an interview program we would like to thank all involved in making the program the success that it was. I would also like to thank the merchants who made donations to the program.

LaGalerie Offers Gourmet Dining

By Joe Pilot, staff writer

LaGalerie, as any Frenchman knows, means Veranda to the Englishman; Portico to the Spaniard; and Porch or Gallery to the American. The concept is simple: a place where you can enjoy the best of French cuisine in a beautiful setting.

The beautiful and graceful wrought iron bird cage so decorative in the foyer is empty most of the time -- unoccupied. "It's for the birds," explains Pebbles when he feels like talking.

Conversation piece? The keys on the wall of the bar -- only one is from the original house. Mattox has a collection of possibly over a thousand keys but lacks display room for all of them.

Other attractions? Convenient parking in the rear, comfortable chairs on the front porch and a wonderful view of Pass Christian's small craft harbor.

Fresh flower arrangements arrive at LaGalerie several times each week. They are through the courtesy of Mrs. W. H. Massie, owner of a nursery in Gulfport and the mother of Tom Mattox.

Wins First Place

The Ladies' Softball Team of Kiln won first place in a softball tournament held on Sunday, August 23 in New Orleans. Members of the team include: Nydia Lasso, Karen Polk, Lynette Necaise, Cheryl Thomas, Diane Powell, Tannis Moran, Cleopatra Moran, Sally Raymond, Annie Dahl, Mary Jane Pendergraft, and Becky Raymond.

Also attending the tournament were the team's mascots, Vickie, Janet Gail, Gidget and Maurice Necaise.

There are 16 rooms in the house called LaGalerie and 300 square feet of space. The down-stairs has four main living rooms, three enclosed galleries, and a delightful patio with lush tropical plantings including a "finger banana" tree in bloom. There are facilities for large or small parties, garden clubs, and other social functions are catered to on pre-arranged per-person basis of $10.00.

"I charge only for the number of people actually served," Mattox explained.

Skills and experiences from a colorful background of travel and careers have enabled Mattox to return to his native land and restore LaGalerie. "I fell in love with the house the first time I saw it," Mattox declared. Post experiences include overseas duty in the armed services, lecturer on the topic in many universities, writer, work with movie and TV companies, operator of a grocery store, bakery, and restaurant in California.

There are no bar files at LaGalerie, however, Pebbles-the-Parakeet has a stand at the end of the bar where he keeps a beady eye on affairs and certainly doesn't tell all he hears. The beautiful and graceful wrought iron bird cage so decorative in the foyer is empty most of the time -- unoccupied. "It's for the birds," explains Pebbles when he feels like talking.

Fresh flower arrangements arrive at LaGalerie several times each week. They are through the courtesy of Mrs. W. H. Massie, owner of a nursery in Gulfport and the mother of Tom Mattox.

"Subtle" would probably be the adjective to best describe LaGalerie. The impeccable taste of the discriminating owner is apparent in decor and design. The twenty-two persons employed in the establishment were carefully selected and personally trained. Only the best waitresses had previous experience. None of the waiters had previous experience as mixologists. Mattox is an excellent chef and uses fine quality meats, the finest spices and wines, brandies and cordials. Many of his recipes were developed in his kitchen. The crepes (crab meat with a mushroom and sherry sauce) are slightly different, as is the green Goddess dressing. Each night there are four selections from which to choose. Dinners are complete with salad, wine, dessert included with the price of the entree.

Luncheon selections change very week. Desserts and beverages are included in the price of the meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Parker, Jr. of Mobile, Miss. decided that it was time for them to buy a new pickup truck. Mr. and Mrs. Parker had made several purchases of new cars from salesman Fritz Peranich and were always very happy with the way their friend Fritz treated them with a very good deal. Again Fritz Peranich gave Mr. and Mrs. Parker a very good deal, and this time, it was a new Chevy pickup truck. For many years Fritz Peranich has been selling new cars in Bay St. Louis and he has made many friends and has sold them many cars and trucks. If you're thinking about buying a new car or truck, visit Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and ask for salesman Fritz Peranich. He could save you many dollars.

On Friday, Robert L. Reigher, chief director of Operations, Upturn, said a person named "John" had been in the home where Mrs. Williams lives. He said that the property has been brought down to minimum building code conditions through grants. To each home visited Certificates of Appreciation, signed by Mayor Warren J. Carver, and Certificates of Code Compliance, signed by John E. Schott the Chief Inspector for Operation Upturn, were presented.

Reigher said as of August 20, a total of $200,232.15 in grants and $17,243.75 in loans had been spent with a Federal funds together with an added $12,600.12 in personal funds to upgrade residential properties. Before certificates are awarded the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development requires careful inspections of construction work to insure satisfactory workmanship and the use of proper materials. In some cases major appliances such as refrigerators, stoves, floor furnaces, and hot water heaters were installed. Many of the older homes were termite infested prior to up-grading, and there were signs of termite damage.

is a new refrigerator, floor furnace and stove. Also a new water heater. The roof is new. The house has been leveled. In accepting her certificate Mrs. Estapa said: "You just can't know how grateful I am". A widow, living alone and in failing health she asked: "If I ever have to give another place up -- Is there any reason why I can't stay here?" When assured that the grant was an outright gift she relayed her feeling of joy to her little dog and gave extra pat on his head.

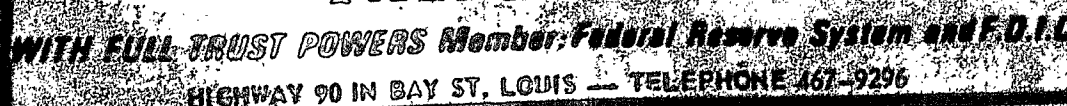

Raymond Williams lives alone. His yard at 440 St. George is very large and has a good new cyclocone fence around it. On his 68th birthday he received his certificates and recalled that during the storm he lost about 40 trees. "I hope, of course, had to be replaced -- and yes, there were a lot of termites in it before." Operation Upturn gave him a contract for repairs. The Coast End of the road, Williams keeps a "good house, a well mowed yard, grows okra and tomatoes and roses. A devout man, his home is filled with religious pictures and photographs of church dignitaries. For his upgraded home we expressed hanks to Operation Upturn, and to God.

St. Rose CYO Tournament

A fired St. Rose boys CYO team made the trip to Jackson, Miss., a futile one for the boys from Holy Rosary Parish of Hattiesburg, Mississippi. St. Rose went into the State CYO tournament which was held today with the second-best record in the South. St. Rose disposed of St. Theresa Jackson with a score of 7-1 in the first round. Holy Rosary arrived in the finals demolishing Clarksdale with a score of 14-7. Then for the showdown, St. Rose faced familiar names of Holy Rosary and St. Rose again appeared in the finals. The boys were as exciting as it had seemed to be. Holy Rosary, the visiting team, went ahead in the first 2-run Homer. St. Rose came on strong in the bottom of the first inning with a Homer, Single, and a 2-run Homer. The next five innings followed pretty much the same pattern with the regulation 7-innings ending in an 8-8 deadlock.

In the top of the eighth inning Holy Rosary went 3-up and 3-down. St. Rose playing water-tight defense. In the bottom of the eighth Don Smith lined in a Triple to left field. Albert Parker drove the left fielder back to the fence with a sacrifice fly to bring home the winning run.

St. Rose Girls arrived in the finals also with the second-best record in South Mississippi.

They captured the title of State runner-up when they were edged by an undefeated St. Michael's Girls' Team of Biloxi in the finals by a score of 5-2.

The St. Rose Softball Teams deeply appreciate the contributions from the people of Bay St. Louis which financed this trip to Jackson.

Nearly $14 million was spent on 1,633 research projects in Mississippi during fiscal year 1969, according to a report, "Directory of Research in Progress in Mississippi During the Fiscal Year Ending June 1969," prepared by the Mississippi Research and Development Center.

The Research Directory, compiled by Dorothy Kichlighter of the Center Staff, is published annually in compliance with State law.

The expenditure figure does not include NASA's Mississippi Test Facility budget, reported at $42 million, nor the $16.2 million reported by the Army's Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg.

PRC SOPHOMORE WILLIAM REDO from Bay St. Louis will see action in the Wildcats opening game of the season against Northeast at Booneville September 12.

Football Practice Begun At P.R.C.

The Pearl River Junior College Wildcats are well into their second week of pre-season practice and the Wildcats, who went 9-0 last season to capture the Mississippi Junior College Conference Crown, are shaping up for their season opener against a strong Northeast Junior College team.

The opener for the Wildcats in Booneville September 12 will set the pace for the season. Rated fourth in the National Junior College Polls last year the Wildcats hope to leap out with a big victory in the beginning of the season, hoping to repeat their last year's record.

Head Coach John Russell who was named "Outstanding Coach of the Year" after last year's season isn't going into this season overly optimistic.

"Every team in the league is going to be stronger than last year and each game is going to be a test. Northeast last year went 7-2 for the season and they should be a lot better than that this year," Russell said.

Of the 62 boys working for spots on this year's squad are 15 returning players from last year's championship team.

"The returning boys are helping out a lot," Russell said, "not only with their experience but with their enthusiasm for another great year."

Parents may appeal the decision made on eligibility by a formal written or oral request. The income poverty guidelines as established by the United States Department of Agriculture which is the minimum family size annual income levels to be used by local school authorities are as follows:

Family Size	Income Level

3	3120
4	3720
5	4320
6	4920
7	5520
8	6120

This winning spirit can be a great help and can set a season up for any team, but some of the boys we lost from last season are going to be hard to replace."

Among those boys hard to replace are: Willie Heideberg, a 150 lb. tailback who was named to the All-State Team and was one of the leading ground gainers in the league; Derwin Bales, another All-State member, a 195 lb. linebacker who along with Heideberg and David Earl Johnson have signed scholarships with the University of Southern Mississippi.

MRS. LEONARD RING, JR.

Bowlin-Ring Wed In McComb

In a candlelight ceremony, Miss Mildred Lavarina Bowlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson Bowlin of Liberty, became the bride of Leonard Adolph Ring, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Ring of Bay St. Louis.

Candor Methodist Church in McComb was the setting for the double-ring ceremony with Rev. David M. Ulmer, pastor, officiating. Musical music was presented by Miss Janice Jones of Smithdale, organist, and Jerry Gordon Crow of Buras, La., soloist, who sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Vows were exchanged before a background of candleabra entwined with ivy garlands holding lighted yellow tapers and emerald green palm trees. The communion table was centered with a brass candleabra with five baskets of yellow gladioli, yellow and white mums, and leather leaf fern on either side.

Family paws were marked by white satin bows centered with white majestic daisies.

Mr. Charles Wilson Bowlin gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a formal gown of pure white silk organza over silk faced peau de sole designed and fashioned by her mother. The empire gown had a Victorian neckline heavily encrusted with seed pearls and crystals. Appliques heavily beaded with pearls were on the full bishop's sleeves that ended with lace covered cuffs closed with satin buttons. The bodice was of peau d'ange lace accented with pearls. The hemline of the princess skirt was of scalloped lace and pearls. A fan-shaped cathedral length train accented with scattered scrolls of lace and pearls draped from the back of the bodice. Her cathedral length veil of silk illusion edged with appliques of peau d'ange lace was attached to a Camelot cap of lace etched with seed pearls and crystals. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, lily of the valley, and tiny white feathered carnations accented by a lace border, ivy, and white satin streamers.

Mrs. James Conrad Brown, Jr., of Moorhead, Miss., served her sister as matron of honor.

Miss Cris Bowlin of Liberty, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Hugh Bowlin of Jackson, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. James Calvin Ellis, III, of Starkville, college roommate of the bride, Mrs. Jerry Gordon Crow of Buras, La., and Miss Andrea Ring of Bay St. Louis, sister of the groom.

James Calvin Ellis, III, of Starkville, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy White of Maben, Peter Rook of Mendenhall, John Brooks of Vicksburg, and Ed and Glenn Bowlin of Liberty, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Mike Reeves of State College, and Derl Blakeney Nelson of Starkville.

Plays Produced By Little Theatre

(A review by L'Inconnu)

A feat which took considerable contriving was accomplished in August by the Little Theatre . . . the production of two plays within a period of two weeks. Both shows had, of course, been in rehearsal for a normal length of time, but even that required careful planning for the use of the stage as the deadlines drew near. Those were the days that tried the souls of directors and technical crews, and it is to their credit that through cooperation and efficiency the two plays came off on schedule.

In mid-August Terry Malone II produced and directed the second Children's Theatre show given in this area, the Mary-Kate Tewes adaptation of the fairy tale HANSEL AND GRETEL. David Treutel, Jr., and Carleen Murphy played the title roles well and showed great promise for acting during their future school years. Both have excellent speaking voices and a well-defined stage sense unusual in actors of their age. Mary Jo Jacob, who will be a sophomore this fall at Loyola University, threw herself wholeheartedly into her role as the wicked witch and sent delicious chills down the spines of the young audiences, who were delighted over her downfall at the hands of Gretel. Mary Ellen Murphy, Norris Sumrall, and Jay Resato, three of the Little Theatre's most talented young stars, played the parts of the children's mother, father, and uncle, giving such convincing performances that even the witch and her magic cottage took on an air of reality. The audiences were composed of children from about five to twelve years of age, and the show was performed at two matinees and on two evenings.

Highlight of the final performance was the unexpected attendance by Mrs. Mary-Kate Tewes, the author, who was in New Orleans, knew of the production here, and drove over with her husband and children to see the show. She was delighted with the performance and the stage setting and most complimentary to the director.

HANSEL AND GRETEL was entirely in charge of young people, who gave their summer time to putting on a show for the children of the community. Technical director was Leo di Benedetto, and the set was constructed by Mike Flynn, Chuck Benvenutti, Mickey McGill, Pete Benvenutti, and Jay Rosato. The scenery was designed and created by Sam Scruggs, Amy Lynch, Peggy Giveans, and Mary Ellen Murphy, and lighting was done by Mike Flynn. Properties were in charge of Carol Godfrey, Hope Holmes, Sheryl Carroll, and Mary Ellen Murphy.

Aside from its entertainment value, children's theatre acquaints its audiences with live, on-stage acting and adds a new dimension to their cultural growth. This reporter congratulates Malone and his cast and crew for their excellent efforts in this direction.

The second play of the month and the third regularly-scheduled play of the 1970 season was presented on August 27 through August 29, GENERATION, a comedy by William Goodhart, was produced by Pete Chapman by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc., and was directed by Edward Craig of Pass Christian.

Thought-provoking, in spite of its comic situations, the play was intended to mirror certain of the dilemmas which face parents and young adults of today when considered normal behavior. In the opinion of this reviewer, the playwright probably used his characters to voice his own views on current mores, with the result that through the laughter there ran the undercurrent of a lecture on twentieth-century manners and morals.

Cast in the leading role as the father-image was Philip Allison, skillful portrayal of dozens of Little Theatre characters for the past twenty years. His interpretation of the older generation was beautifully done, expressing every emotion from anger, bluster, and righteous indignation to uncertainty, fear, and tenderness. Newcomer to this stage was Roslyn Chunn, playing the very difficult role of his daughter, expecting her first child, loving both her father and her young husband, and torn between them. Equally demanding was the role of her husband, played by Richard Morreale, cast in his first important part in this theatre, that of a near-hippie New Yorker determined to remain true to his own ideas of morality and a family life. Dan Griffin of Pass Christian played his first role as Winston Garand, showing remarkable coolness and smoothness of performance ideally suited to his part. Pete Benvenutti, who is entering his senior year at Harvard, gave a memorable portrayal of the morally sick, highly paid, unbelievably crude magazine editor, a vastly different characterization from that of the gentle troubadour he played in last summer's Children's Theatre. It is to be hoped that all four of these gifted young actors will be seen again on our stage.

Special plaudits, however, must go to Edward Craig, who not only directed GENERATION last summer, saw his efforts vanish with the hurricane, gave his time and energy all over again this summer to direct a repeat production, but who actually managed to take a boy role and turn in a stellar performance. Craig is said to have summarized his acting experience in nine words: "Border to border, coast to coast, 13 to 61," and such a background showed in his easy, almost any portrayal of the doctor in the cast. Local audiences have been privileged to see him perform several times, and each time in a way to remember, but to this reviewer he proved his ability beyond any doubt in his portrayal of Elizabeth Barrett's father in THE BARRETTS OF SIMPOLE STREET presented here by the Gulf Coast Theatre of Arts. The doctor of GENERATION was a much easier characterization, but it was in addition to directing the play, it too was an achievement.

Technical director of GENERATION was Chuck Taylor of Pass Christian, who pressed his family into service, along with Burt Barrett and Julie Hines, to design and construct the Manhattan studio-loft setting. Props were in charge of Mary Carter, Lila Greenfield, and Pat Schott; make-up was by Laurie Byrd, set work by Lisa Wagner, and set decoration by Olive McKenna. Hope Holmes and Peggy Giveans served as prompters.

MR. AND MRS. WALLACE HATHORN

Terrell-Hathorn Rites Performed

Miss Jessie Terrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ledell Terrell of Bay St. Louis and Wallace Hathorn, of Muskegon Heights, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood Hathorn of Bassfield, Miss., were married Sunday August 23 in First Missionary Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis with Rev. E. L. Fox performing the double ring ceremony.

Roland Collins, organist, played the "Lord's Prayer" and "Instrumental Solo".

Eccorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown fashioned on Empire lines trimmed with lace appliques reembodying with seed pearls. The wrist length sleeves, Sabrina neckline and cathedral length train were embellished with lace embroidered in pearls. Her veil of illusion fell from a head piece fashioned of organza petals trimmed in pearls and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Kim Cole served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rhoda S. Terrell and Miss Pamela Johnson. Jane Shepherd was flower girl. They wore dresses in shades of pink and green made on Empire lines trimmed with clusters of beaded flowers. The empire waists were edged with bands of satin. They carried cascades of Rubrum lilies, pink carnations and English ivy.

Phillip Terrell served the groom as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Freddie Terrell, Samuel Shephard, Ricky Cole and Charles Johnson, all of Bay St. Louis.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church.

The bride's table, overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake trimmed with pink spun sugar roses topped by sugar bells and a nosegay of satin ribbon. Arrangements of chrysanthemums and silver candleabra holding white tapers completed the table decorations.

The mother of the bride chose for the occasion a pink embroidered organza dress with matching accessories. For her wedding trip the bride wore a moss green suit with beige accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Valena C. Jones High School and Jackson State College, is presently an elementary teacher at Martin Luther King school, Muskegon Heights, Mich.

The groom is a graduate of Carver High School and Prentiss Junior College, Prentiss, Miss.

The couple will make their home in Oakland, California.

CHANCERY SUMMONS

By L. S. (Doc) Elliott

The old saying, "Rain, rain, go away, Little Johnny wants to play" has been said by a lot of fishermen each day as the rain continued to fall. It has been almost two weeks since a day without rain. Streams have been unfishable, some country roads impassable and fishing affected. About the only good water to be found is in Pearl River, East Middle River, and Middle River which are larger streams. They are in Louisiana where both salt and fresh water fish are being caught.

Green trout and perch are hooked both on the fly rod and by casting.

Labor Day is only a week off and as usual there should be plenty of hunters and fishermen coming to this section. The dove season will be open in both Louisiana and Mississippi.

Fishing, skiing, golf, picnicking, etc. will be the order of the long awaited weekend.

Among those catching green trout were Dick Mestayer and son, Allen.

Sylvan Ladner has been catching both green trout and perch while fly fishing. Sylvan is one of our best fly fishermen and has been at it a long time. He also enjoys hunting.

John Caffie, Jr., will return to school soon after about a year's lay-off. He is looking forward to dove hunting when he gets back to North Mississippi.

Believe it or not Norman Compretta has been catching a lot of hard crabs. He gets his share each time out. They are full too, he claimed.

Speaking of catching hard crabs, Lucille Bourgeois, Jerry Bourgeois, Thomas and Bertha caught about 25 dozen in about two hours, down by Bayou Caddy one day last week. They were getting 3 to 6 crabs at a time in crab nets. Giving like mad, said Jerry.

Emery Favre enjoys hunting and fishing and enjoyed celebrating his birthday last week with his friends at Chateau Sue. A keg of draft beer furnished by Emery made everyone very happy. He operates the Shoreline Electric service and was 45 on August 24th.

Sunday was a sorry day for catching fish. Neither fresh or salt water fish were biting according to John Israel, Jay Garner and Yours Truly, who spent the day fighting the finny tribe.

Bill Jordan caught some speckles in the Little Cut Off last week. He was using live shrimp. The rain has probably run them out by now. The Little Cut Off is up Jourdan River.

Douglas Todd young nephew of Mrs. Norman Compretta was down from Yadkinville, N.C., on vacation. He had a ball catching hard crabs.

They did it again. Sheldon Seuzeneau, III, Larry Rosetta, Benny Surratt, Dick Mare and Nick Gangini caught 42 spanish mackerel, some bonita, 2 king mackerel, and 6 bull red fish. One weighed 27 pounds. They went out on the Gray Jay, a charter boat at Gulfport.

E. N. "Bubba" Dear with the National Life Ins. Co. has been having a time catching fish and crabs. He is a fishing partner of A. K. Martinovich. Enough said.

Someone told me, Adam was down today. I go to go could say a few words.

Was a pleasure meeting Radden A. Brewer, a former staff sergeant in the Army. Radden is a big game hunter. He makes a trip to Colorado each year to hunt big game and do some fishing. Living here says he fishes with A. K. Boster helps out with the cooking at the Youth Club. A good cook, too.

Kinda funny - you can't spell stupid without a U in it.

Jim Blanchette from St. Paul, Minnesota was bragging about the fishing down this way. He enjoys both hunting and fishing, he said.

A fishing family to the John Israels. John is bragging about his new boat, motor and trailer. It's a honey and they use it to.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK CARL HOLLAND likes to fish and eat. Fishing predominates with him, we think. Carl goes on every occasion and gets his share of the finny tribe.

good advantage. Just back from a fishing trip to Florida where their young daughter Debbie, caught a 16 pound red groper. Carl and John, their sons will be here next month. Both were in the service and coming here to do some fishing. Mrs. Israel catches her share of fish, also.

Campbell's Bayou is a mighty good place to catch both salt and fresh water fish. You are not far from Red Fish Bayou or Pearl River. Floundering in the bayou is excellent during the winter months. Boats and bait are available at La France's Camp most any time.

Bob Flemming and his fishing buddies were out Saturday to do any kind of fishing. Don't know how they made out. Bob does both fishing and hunting. One of the best at both sports, we think.

MR. AND MRS. I. C. BREWER OF GULFPORT, MISS., ACCEPT DELIVERY OF THEIR NEW CHEVY FROM FRITZ PERANICH, SALESMAN AT LAMAR-LANE CHEVROLET, IN BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Brewer of Gulfport, Miss., had bought two trucks from salesman Fritz Peranich at Lamar-Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis, so when they were ready to buy a new car, they went straight to see Fritz Peranich, for they knew from previous experience he would give them a good deal. After talking over the type of car the Brewers were interested in and picking it out, Fritz Peranich gave them a Lamar-Lane price that was a very good deal and they are very happy they took the short drive over to Bay St. Louis to buy their new car. Folks come to Lamar-Lane many miles to buy from them, for they know that they will get a good deal. If you're thinking about buying a new car or truck, visit Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and talk to veteran salesman Fritz Peranich, he could save you many dollars. LAMAR-LANE CHEVROLET, INC. MR. I. C. Toledanos In Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Toledano who lived, prior to destruction of their home by Hurricane Camille, on Paradise Drive, are now located in Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Toledano, well known in this area for her work with the Women's Auxiliary of Hancock General Hospital writes that her husband has during recent months been frequently hospitalized and they have re-

One reason they claim for drinking whiskey is to prevent a cold or cure one you caught. We think its because we like it.

There are a lot of trigger happy sports right now. Some hunting seasons open next week. Dove hunting is the first with others to follow. Prospects for some real hunting look good. Hunting and fishing licenses can be purchased from Kingston's Barber shop or at the courthouse. Better have one when you go.

Teal Duck Season: 19th Sept. to 27th Sept. Bag limit, 4 per day.

Doves: First season - Sept. 5th to Sept. 27th. Second Season: November 7th to November 28th. Third season: December 22 to January 15th. 18 doves per day.

Bond Posted For Violations

Ronnie Davis, 26, living on the Hancock County line near Pearl River, posted a $150 appearance bond on Monday and is scheduled to appear before Judge Douglas McQueen on Friday to answer to three law violation counts: drag racing, littering the highway and fleeing from arrest, according to information obtained through the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

It was reported that approximately 20 drag racers were involved in the incident which occurred Sunday in the North West part of the County and that Davis' car was going at a speed of well over 100 mph when apprehended. Another youth whose name was not immediately learned headed his car away from the highway and into a heavily timbered area where his vehicle finally came to rest between two pine trees and crushed in telescopic fashion. The youth was said to have been injured and admitted to a hospital in Pearl River County. Deputy Robert Tartavouille, the arresting officer, said full particulars could not be released until after the court hearing.

Must Obey All Safety Rules

Simple safety rules governing the flow of automobile across Gulf Coast bridges that open for boats are being flaunted by drivers, and the draw-bridge operators are seriously concerned about it.

Highway Department Signal Technician Harvey B. Taylor has quoted recent flagrant violations of simple but important rules regulating traffic on the bridges. He said several accidents and near-accidents have occurred merely because drivers have refused to obey the rules.

Specific references were made to some drivers' refusal to stop when bridge stop-gates start downward. Taylor said one death was miraculously avoided recently when a driver sped past the descending gates. All the partially opened bridge and his car burst into flames. The usual tolls were ringing and lights flashing, but to no avail.

The accident happened on the Pascagoula Drawbridge on U.S. 90, but Taylor says drivers insist on racing through gates, and often even running over the protective arms on the Blount-Ocean Springs, Bay St. Louis and Escatawpa Bridges.

The veteran bridge technician has reminded motorists that the draw operator goes into an instant busy segment of his work as soon as the stop-gates start down and the bridge begins to open for the boat. Consequently, chances are slim that he can react in time to stop the bridge opening with his controls if a motorist should insist on racing around or through the gates a few seconds too late.
